GOVERNMENT RAIL PLANS ANNOUNCED

PRESIDENT WILSON DELIVERS ADDRESS ON RAILROAD PLANS BEFORE JOINT SESSION OF CONGRESS.

BILLS ARE PREPARED

Outlines Policy Which Will Be Followed—Will Guard All Interests During Time of Control by Government.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Jan. 4.—President Wilson before congress assembled in joint session, his recommendations for carrying out government operation of the railroads. Bills to carry out the president's ideas already have been prepared under the supervision of the department of justice and were immediately introduced with plans for prompt consideration in both house and senate.

Fix Compensation.

To guarantee proper returns to the road during the period of government operation the president recommended that the rate of the same not operating at the rate of the time not operating until such time as roads have received for the three preceding fiscal years. To provide the most proper maintenance of the roads and their return to owners in the same order as the government took them over, the president recommended legislation to authorize their upkeep and betterment during the period of federal operation. Legislation to effect is all contained in the administration bills which would appropriate a $50,000,000 fund for government operation. Only by government operation, the president told congress, could the unity necessary to the country be obtained, and he added that existing organization of the railroads should be disturbed as little as possible.

Make Assurances.

The president laid special stress on the guarantee to the roads and their stockholders, saying on that point: "I need not point out the essential justice of such guarantee and their great influence and significance as elements in the present financial and industrial situation of the country. Indeed, one of the strongest arguments for assuming control of the railroads at this time is the financial argument; it is necessary that the value of railroad securities should be justly and fairly protected and the large financial operation every year necessary in connection with the maintenance, operation and development of the railroads should, during the period of the war, be wisely related to the financial operation of the government."

Conserve Interests.

"Our first duty is, of course, to conserve the common interest and the common safety, and to make certain that nothing stands in the way of the successful prosecution of the greatest war for liberty and justice. It is also an obligation of public conscience and public honor that the private interests of railroads should be kept safe from unjust injury, and it is of the utmost consequence to the government itself. All great financial operations should be stabilized and coordinated with the financial operation of the government."

Industries Unimpaired.

"No business should run athwart the borrowing of the federal treasury and the fundamental industrial values should anywhere be unnecessarily impaired. In the hands of many thousands of small investors in the country as well as in national banks and insurance companies, in savings banks, in trust companies, financial agencies of every kind, and railway securities to the sum total of which run up to seventeen or eighteen thousand billion dollars constitute a vital part of the structure of credit and the unquestioned solidity of that structure must be maintained."

JUSTICE ROSENBERY HAS A CLEAR FIELD

Madison, Wis., Jan. 4.—That there will be no opposition to the re-election of Justice M. B. Rosenberry at the Wisconsin supreme court at the April election is the indication here at the present time. The leading man in the papers, Justice Rosenberry, will be placed in circulation.

The present election of Justice Rosenberry will be for the unexpired term of Justice John Barnes. The law provides that the governor can make an appointment on the supreme court in case of vacancy, but the position must be filled as the recurring spring election. When Justice Barnes resigns, Governor Philip Rosenthal, Rosenberry. The appointment to this term is only until January, 1920. The regular term of a supreme court justice is ten years. Justice Rosenberry was practicing law at Wausau when appointed to office.

PRICE OF SHOES TO TAKE ANOTHER JUMP

New York, Jan. 4.—Leather is increasing in cost and shoes in 1918 will cost more than last year, a member of the National Shoe Traders' association, in convention in this city, declared. The shoe salesman also discussed the rise in cost of traveling and proposed this slogan for the patriotic: "Save your old shoes half-soled and buy war saving stamps."

PRESIDENT TAKES UP THE QUESTION OF WATER POWER

Washington, Jan. 4.—President Wilson has summoned some of the house members interested in water power yesterday to a conference at the White House tonight with a view to expeditious action on some measure that will reconcile all differences.

STUBBORN BLAZE IN HOBOKEN CAUSES A LOSS OF $250,000

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Hoboken, N. J., Jan. 4.—Firemen, U. S. soldiers and civilians, aided by the New York fire boats and railroad tugs, brought a stubborn blaze under control after a fight of several hours in the heart of the industrial section paralleling the Hudson River. A six-story building containing paper and other mill supplies owned by the Gatti-McQuade Company, was destroyed with an estimated property loss of $250,000. Numerous small fires caused by sparks were checked.

At the request of war department authorities in New York, the fire boats were dispatched and reached Hoboken after cutting their way through the Hudson river ice. The flames were prevented from spreading to a number of ships loading with war supplies.

About 1,000 soldiers guarded the district and civilians were called on for patrol duties.

A munition factory in the vicinity was not touched by the flames. A number of firemen, overcome by cold, exhaustion and smoke, were removed to hospitals.

TO APPEAL CASE OF CONGRESSMAN NELSON

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Jan. 4.—United States district attorney A. C. Wolfe today made preparations to leave the Congressional Nelson case again before the United States attorney general's office at Washington. This time with the asking permission to take an appeal to the United States circuit court except upon permission of the attorney general's office at Washington.

Late yesterday afternoon Judge Charles Carpenter of Chicago quashed the indictment in the conspiracy case against Congressman Nelson and son, although they had arranged to evade the federal draft law. Judge Carpenter took the same view of the matter as that taken by Counsel for the defense. As soon as court convened, United States District Attorney C. Wolfe entered a motion that the case be continued to January 15th to enable the Government to secure additional information and evidence to the effect that young Byron Nelson during his wedding tour touched at the port of entry to the United States.

Reports that the German and Austrian emperor and their military and political advisors were much perturbed over the Russian attitude, are followed by one that Count Von Hertling, the German imperial chancellor, is ill. Berlin political circles, a rumor that Von Hertling who is seven or eight years old, is to be ousted in favor of Prince Von Eulow, the former chancellor, who is very close to the German Crown Prince.

Recognition of the Lenin-Trotzky regime in Russia as a de facto government by the Entente allies is probable, according to a London Daily Chronicle. Such change of sentiment, it is said, would be due to the end in peace negotiations and might bring from the allies a statement of democratic policy toward Russia.

Meanwhile, the question of the constituent assembly still bothers the Bolsheviks and demands are made that it be called at once. The government of the Ukraine has sent to the Bolsheviks a demand that it withdraw its troops from the Ukraine and decide whether or not it is at war with the government.

The war has occurred to break the inactivity of the infantry on the western and Italian fronts. Small raids are taking place here and there and German artillery fire continues strong at vital points on the western front. England will soon be under compulsory rationing, making this announcement. Lord Rhonda, the food minister, said the situation was not alarming and would improve, although shortage in certain foodstuffs would continue.

District Attorney A. C. Wolfe in a statement declared that the ruling of Judge Carpenter is exactly contrary to the ruling made by the federal department of justice no less as the necessity for registration is concerned. Attorneys for the defense take a different view of the matter. One of the law was confirmed by Judge Carpenter and it was section 56 of the new selective service regulations as issued by President Wilson on November 8, 1917, said Attorney Ralph W. Jackman today. The regulations simply say that citizens and persons who have declared their intention to become citizens residing abroad are not required to register.

This continued Mr. Jackman's statement under the president's regulations. Young Nelson was not required to register and did not do so. In view of the fact that there was no violation on his part we contended that no offense had been committed.

TO CUT NUMBER OF ALIEN EXEMPTIONS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Jan. 4.—The war department will oppose every effort of men already drafted to obtain discharges on the ground of alien citizenship, it was learned today. Notification of scores of men in national army camps have made application for draft habeas corpus for their release as aliens caused the chief advocate of local boards to urge that decisions of local boards upon questions of citizenship is final and conclusive.

Adjutant General McCain has ordered camp commanders in every case to fight the matter out in the court.

COAL SITUATION IN THE EAST IS ACUTE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 4.—For the first time in history solid trains of coal were being rushed through the Union Passenger station with eight of way over all other service today. The coal is for the east.

Philadelphia Gold.

Philadelphia, Jan. 4.—No immediate relief from the coal shortage in this city was in sight early today and thousands of householders face another bitter cold day without fuel.

STATE ASSEMBLYMAN TAKE HIS OWN LIFE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Manitowoc, Jan. 4.—Assemblyman Carl Hansen, a leader and humorist in the last session of the legislature committed suicide by firing a bullet through his brain in his insurance office this noon on Washington street. The gun was found in his right hand. Mr. Hansen had been in ill health since his return from Madison. No inquest will be held.

NEW TERMS FOR PEACE IN RUSSIA

[RUSSIAN REPRESENTATIVES AND CENTRAL POWERS TO GATHER FOR DISCUSSION OF TERMS.]

MUST WITHDRAW ARMY

Russians Have Made Counter Proposals for Formation of a Peace Pact—Bolsheviki Warned.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Unless there is a change in the original plans, the emissaries of Russia and the Central Powers will meet today to continue their discussion of peace terms, and which the Bolsheviks have declared are unacceptable. Russian delegates have proposed the conference meet in Stockholm, which, if agreed to by the Germans, will make more delay.

Duplicate Reports.

A news dispatch received in London says the Russians have made counter proposal to the Germans. It is added that will be discussed at the next meeting at Brest-Litovsk on Saturday, which would indicate the Russian.

General Pershing replied:

"The American soldiers in France are very glad to have your message. We sacrificed we can make will be too great if we do not insist on the safety and happiness of the children of America."

Doctor Anna Howard Shaw,

surgeon leader and member of the Woman's Council of National Defense, came this message:

"The women of the United States are with you in the spirit of service. You are our standard bearers, our hope. We love you, believe in you, pray for you."

General Pershing replied:

"All ranks of the American expeditionary force unite in heartfelt thanks to the women of America for their love and prayers. Their patriotism is incomparable. There is no other more noble. You shall be our constant inspiration until the great task which is entrusted to us shall be accomplished. Accept our best wishes for the coming year and our firm confidence in final success."

To Christmas messages from the women of the American Red Cross the American commander sent the thanks of all ranks, adding "Our confidence of our women will make us all better men and soldiers and hold us firm in the courage and determination to win."

STATE LEGISLATURE CALLED FOR SPECIAL SESSION FEB. 19TH

Madison, Wis., Jan. 4.—The special session of the Wisconsin legislature will be called for February 19, according to an announcement made today by Governor E. L. Philipp.

The three overshadowing features of the session will be:

1. Increased state taxes to take care of the deficiency in state treasury.

2. Disposal of the Governor's request that he be given authority to name his successor to the late United States Senator Paul O. Husting.

3. Amendments to the primary election laws to make possible a non-partisan or fusion election to insure the selection of a strictly American candidate for senator in the 1918 election.

The official call will be delayed by the fact that the Governor is compelled by law to call special elections in the Marathon county district represented by Assemblyman D. S. Burnett, who has entered the army, and in the Winnebago county district represented by Assemblyman William Arnett.

The 1918 legislative reference has compiled data to show that thirty-five states have already given governors the power to make temporary appointments, the vacancies to be filled by regular elections later.

It is also the proposal to the proposition to call Sunday saloon closing to the legislature, as promised last summer by Governor Philipp will be included in the call and formal demand for its inclusion has or will be made by the Wisconsin Anti-Saloon League.

A rough figure of 8.2 per cent failed to appear for examination, but those already were in Europe in the American, British and French armies.

370,363 Await Summons.

Of the total registration of 9,586,508 of the number called and examined 3,032,949, and of these 1,057,363 were certified as fit for military service.

Since the first call was for men between the ages of 21 and 31 years and these 1,057,363 were released after having registered. Final analysis will show that only 600,26 per cent of men within the prescribed age were examined.

May Be Recognized.

"Assuming such a situation and the consolidation of Bolshevik power provided for to extract a peace does not weaken the Lenin regime, the recognition of that power as the de facto government will follow. Since that is the case there would be a logical representative of that government and Maxim Litvinoff, who has been appointed, is a likely enough occupant of the German Empire,"

Litvinoff Honored.

Maxine Litvinoff, who has been appointed Bolshevik ambassador to Great Britain, and who said yesterday that he probably would return to Petrograd, has decided to remain in London pending the receipt of his instructions. His photo is printed prominently in the English press.

Analyzing the first call, General Crowder shows that 1,586,508 men between the ages of 21 and 31 years and these 1,057,363 were released after having registered. Final analysis will show that only 600,26 per cent of men within the prescribed age were examined.

ASSESSMENT OF ALL CITIZENS WILL BE BEGUN IN FEW DAYS

T. O. Howe, Chairman of County War
Funds Committee, Arranging Meeting of Committee for Next Week.

Definite plans as to the method to be pursued in this county for the raising of funds for war purposes on an equal basis will be formulated within a few days. T. O. Howe, who was selected as chairman of the executive committee in December, is out of the city at the time and
was not notified of his appointment until a few days ago. He has communicated with the secretary of the committee, Jesse W. Baker of Beloit, as to calling a committee meeting next week, but has not as yet received a reply.

It is expected that at the meeting
the organization of the county will be completed and the work of assessing every citizen of the county according to the amount which he is able to pay for different war funds, will begin at once.

The plan to be used is practically the same as that known as the "Pontiac plan" which has proved so successful.

Roy E. Wilsner has been appointed treasurer of the committee and the remaining members of the executive committee are: Jas. W. Conroy, Euferton; Geo. S. Weidert, Beloit;

INFORMATION FOR CONSERVING COAL

Posters Just Received Contain Valuable Instructions for Saving Large Amounts of Coal.

To stimulate the conservation of local County Fuel Administrator Jesse Barclay has received a number of posters containing instructions for the economical heating of factories, homes and offices. They are being distributed throughout the downtown district for use in windows.

The information is valuable and should be followed by all coal consumers. The instructions read as follows:

1. Fire small amounts of coal often.

2. Keep fuel bed even by putting coal on thin spars. Avoid raking and sifting.

3. Keep fuel bed about six inches thick.

4. Look out for air leaks in brick work.

5. Increase or decrease steam pressure by opening or closing draft damper in pipe.

6. Clean fire when the demand for steam is small, and while cleaning have the draft damper partly closed.

residents from various parts of the county are making reservations

the city are furnishing lists of names to

AS THE ENVIRONMENT SO IS THE SOLDIER

Edwin Pond Writes From Corpus Christi, Texas, Where He Is Now Stationed and Tells of Life in Camp.

Edwin Pond, who enlisted with Co.
F of the 5th regiment of engineers, has written an interesting letter which has just been received in the city. He is now serving at Corpus Christi, Texas and tells of the excellent treatment they now receive as compared with that which was given them when in Brownsville, Texas.

The letter follows:

About a month ago the second battalion of the fifth regiment of engineers
(of which I am a member) was transferred from Brownsville, Texas, to Corpus Christi. The boys hated to move because Camp Surry (at Corpus Christi) is only a new camp and there were no brackets and the place was not "fixed up" at all. However, after arriving and straightening up, we have all changed our minds.

Corpus Christi is a fine little town, about the same size as Janesville. Very modern! It is a summer resort so at present it's dead, but one can find much to amuse himself with. There are two moving picture houses operated by the same firm. At one you will be given a ticket which entitles you to see the other free of charge.
The "Amusus" always has good pictures. The "Queen" generally has a comedy so a person may have a comedy and laugh for fifteen cents.

On Wednesday evening the engineers give dances at the Neveus Hotel.
Expenses are paid by the companies and everything is free to the soldiers. These dances are a great success. Only the nicest people attend.
The young ladies come to the dances in groups and the soldiers see them in the room. The music is furnished by the regimental orchestra, which cannot be surpassed. On Saturday night there is another dance at the Woodman's hall.
They are much the same as the Wednesday night dances.

FASTEST GAME THIS SEASON SCHEDULED

The Albany Basketball Team Will Invade the Local Y. M. C. A. Tomorrow Evening.

On Saturday night a basketball game will be staged in the Y. M. C. A. which has caused a slight tremor in the local basketball circles. The Albany, Wisconsin team will, on that evening, meet the Y. M. C. A. basket shooters in what promises to be the fastest game played up to the present time. The Albany team is one of the strongest teams in the state. Last year it claimed the basketball championship of the state because the local Capitalists refused to give them a name after they had cleaned up every place else in the state.

The Y. M. C. A. team has a fifty-five record at present and have lately been going strong. The local quintet lost the first two games they played and won the last two. This makes "Doc" Richards confident that they can hand the invading contingent a neat defeat. Though the odds at present is that "Doc" has a pretty stiff contest on his hands. The Albany team hasn't lost a game this season, and come with the idea that they can and will wipe the Y. M. C. A. quintet off the map. Even Mr. Bearmore, who is usually very confident of victory, is slightly perturbed and he expressed himself this morning thusly: "They have a whale of a team but I think we can stop them anyway as we are going to put in our best lineups." The game will be called at 8:15 tomorrow evening, and according to Mr. Bearmore a large crowd of fans ought to be present. The support the Y. M. C. A. has been receiving from its fans has been very weak lately, and the fans must show more interest or fast games will not be scheduled. They need an attendance of 2000 to break even. Quite a few basketball clubs have agreed to continue to contribute to the fast games on the schedule. They have promised their co-operation, but more support is needed to keep Janesville on the basketball map.

THREE MATCH GAMES AT THE WEST SIDE ALLEYS

In one of the closest match games of the season at the West Side alleys, Kirchoff's Stars by consistent rolling took a nine-pin victory from Kueck's Colts. Although Kueck's squad won two games of the match they lost the first one by a big margin, which spelled defeat for them. Kirchoff rolled 199 for a high score. The scores:

DRILL SESSION AT ARMORY LAST NIGHT

Close Order Marching and a Review of the Manual of Arms Taken Up at Drill Meeting.

Although a full attendance of the members of the Sixteenth Separate company, Wisconsin State Guard, was not present last evening at their drill in the armory, a thorough review of the manual of arms and close order drill was given the men. As the company has not had a regular drill for about two weeks the extra session proved to be very beneficial. Those who were present worked hard and the results were very satisfactory.

To aid in the formation of a cadence which could be followed by all the members of the company, the men were made to march to music. This new feature proved to be an excellent addition to the drill as it aided greatly in developing a stride in the marching which was easy to follow and easy to maintain.

Following the drill, which continued for one hour, a social dance was given with Hatch's four-piece jazz orchestra furnishing the music. Although the word was not as large as expected, the music was thoroughly enjoyed and appreciated by those who were present to dance.

Regular drill for the entire company of the state guard has been called by the captain in command for next Monday evening. The drill will start at eight o'clock sharp and every member must be present or suffer the penalty decided upon for failure to report for duty.

HEALTH CONDITIONS EXCELLENT IN CITY

Only Five Cases of Contagious Diseases in City at Present—City Nurse Makes Report.

Few contagious diseases are in the city at the present time, according to the monthly reports of the city health officer and visiting nurse. According to the statements of Dr. S. M. Buckmaster, city health officer, which are filed with the city clerk, there are but two cases of scarlet fever and three cases of small-pox at the present time. This is a very good record for the city at this time of the year and proves the general improvement in the health of the city.

Fifteen marriages, fifteen births and eighteen deaths are also included in the report of the health officer for the month of December.

Mrs. Emma Harvey, city visiting nurse, has made seventy-one visits during the past month to care for the sick of the city. In addition to making daily calls on those in need of help, she has assisted at the dental clinic at the city hall on Tuesday and Friday evenings. Four new cases of tuberculosis have come under the care of the visiting nurse since the last report. In all she has thirteen cases of tuberculosis which have been referred to her for care.

NEW PLAN PREVENTS NEEDLESS DELAY IN ISSUING AUTO TAGS

Law Which Took Effect January 1st Calls for License Plates to Be Shipped Direct to Buyer.

To eliminate an unnecessary amount of delay for purchasing auto licenses in the future, legislation has been introduced in the state whereby license plates are issued directly from the factory to the buyers. In former years it has always been the custom for the applications to be forwarded to Madison by the purchasers, the factory notified, and the plates sent to Madison to be forwarded to the buyers. This amount of routine has been materially cut as when applications are received by the secretary of state now, the factory is immediately ordered to ship direct to the purchasers. In this way, it only takes three days to receive a license plate, where last year many people did not receive them until two weeks after applying. It also prevents the evading of the law by driving a car around all summer with the familiar sign or it, "License Applied For."

Many of the 1918 license plates have already made their appearance in the city and more are rapidly arriving. The plates are of a black shade with the figures in white and can be easily read at a great distance. They are a great improvement over the 1917 licenses, which were not easily discernible. Application blanks for the new licenses may be procured at any of the auto dealers of the city or at the banks and it is preferable when applying for a license to use one of these blanks as it expedites the work considerably.

License rates for the different kinds of motor vehicles have been greatly increased, and in some instances more than doubled. A permit to operate a pleasure car in Wisconsin costs $10 for five dollars while this year it costs ten dollars for the same period. Motorcycle licenses, which were formerly only two dollars, have also been doubled. Where in past years dealers were required to pay a fee of ten dollars for garage licenses for their cars not yet sold, they are this year required to pay twenty-five. This does not mean that for each car the buyer has to pay the required fee, but the fee, plus the cost of the license, includes all of the license plates which he may need.

Motor truck licenses for use on trucks operated in cities or incorporated villages now cost ten dollars, which is also twice the amount required last year. For trucks which are owned or operated outside of cities or villages, scale of rates has been fixed and the money from which will be used as the state's share of the county trunk highway system, and a large amount is expected to be raised in this way as the rates are unusually high. ## SOCIALISM'S FAILURE.

Russia is not a pleasant subject for consideration, but from its degrading plight the people of this country may draw a lesson. The socialistic theory was given full play there and, with every opportunity afforded it, supported by the sympathy and credit of this country, it has utterly failed. The theory of self-control, the referendum, equal pay, equal distribution and equal authority has quickly developed into a centralized rule more autocratic than that of Turkey, or even Germany.

From the forum of the public meeting place the Bolsheviks of this country noisily demanded the right to disseminate treason and sedition against the government in a time of war. When it was denied them they complained that their right to freedom of speech was infringed. But the jails of Petrograd are full of men whose only crime is that they were elected members of the constitutional assembly and do not agree with the views of the ruling Bolsheviks.

Equal authority is not to be seen when the imprisonments and executions in Petrograd daily increase whose victims have held, or expressed views different from those socialistic brothers who have worn their way into control; while the only distributions, aside from promises, are those the Germans are suspected of making to them, expecting later to collect with interest, with or without Bolsheviks.

Socialism was to prevent war. When, under Kerensky's regime, the army held its referendum as to whether it should obey orders and fight, or run away, it was true to socialist theories. It took to its heels instead of its rifles. By so doing it has prolonged the war, and added immeasurably to the burdens of all other peoples of civilization, socialists and non-socialists.

Holding the theory of the brotherhood of man, it has in fact deliberately committed an act of treachery to its brother socialists and other peoples in other countries and has lighted the fire of civil war in Russia itself. Its every act has been a denial of its every theory.

This is not strange when we remember that socialism is born in Germany; that Germany is the toe of every democratic ideal, and is today making use of socialism for the destruction of free government. All American socialists may not be pro-German, but American pro-Germans are nearly all socialists. Americans should not lose sight of this fact; nor lose sight of what socialism is doing when theory is exchanged for action.

THIS WAR OF SCIENCE.

Thousands and thousands of suggestions have been offered the government for beating the submarine. Most of them are valueless. Some seemed so plausible that months ago the warmest expectations were aroused, but so far, no magic device has been invented, and probably none will be.

Perhaps the most interesting and novel suggestion was that of a steel net to be strung from Scotland to Norway to hold the U-boats within the North sea. Some very practical scientist men said it was wholly feasible. But it was negatived by the fact that the U-boats could carry heavy cutters that would make a hole through any size of steel mesh. Of course storms would create a tremendous strain and it would be a big job long to keep the net in place for that long distance.

Many sound propositions have been advanced for making merchant vessels non-strikable. Doubling the number of water-tight bulkheads would be a great protection. The objection is that it takes a good deal longer to build such ships. Probably it is better to notify to build as many ships as possible and trust to other means of defense.

The one best reliance is the destroyer fleet. The faster these are built, the hotter the seas will become for the U-boats. The reduction in number of sinkings of merchant ships is due mostly to the help given by American destroyers. They are fast and agile, can turn so quickly in the water that it is very difficult for the U-boats to get them. They draw little water and torpedoes usually go under them, even if aimed correctly.

The hydro-aeroplane is a tremendous help. When the water is calm it can see a submarine as far below the water as the U-boat dares go. With plenty of destroyers and water-planes, the submarine will be beaten for good.

Some of the people who find the most fault about lack of freight cars to move freight, are the same ones who would never let the railroads make enough money to buy any. Now that Uncle Sam has the job, quit kicking.

The people who will complain bitterly of the high cost of clothing in about six months from now, are the same ones who don't take pains to read in the Gazette the ads of clothing bargains still for sale.

The people who say we can't win the war would be the same ones who would complain most bitterly about the standing army we will have to keep up if we don't win it.

Considering the prices of candy, theater tickets, and automobile rides the time has forever gone by when you can finance a hot girl on a salary of $9.00 a week.

Some of the young men up against the draft questionnaire, now wish they had stayed in school and worked a little on those perfectly useless examination papers.

The church suppers used to provide fifty cents worth of food for twenty-five cents, and now they are expected to give one dollar's worth of food for thirty-five cents.

No embalmed beef has been provided for the soldiers in this war, as under the red tape systems the contractors haven't had time to deliver any yet.

The Kaiser is willing to take Belgium and give the allies a dollar, and if they don't like that, he will give them a dollar and he will take Belgium.

The only general that can make the Russian people behave is General Hunger, and he is preparing a grand campaign that should have useful results.

Some people's idea of food economy is buying twenty-five cents worth of vegetables and then putting seventy-five cents into the dressing to fix it up.

Some people's idea of "Coming Across" for the Red Cross was to come across the street out of the way of the solicitor they saw approaching.

The people who are hollering the loudest about the fuel shortage are frequently those who have a very decent supply in their own storerooms.

If you see a man laying in a stock of two dozen lead pencils he is probably getting ready to figure out his income tax return.

It is claimed the railroads don't need to spend coal warming their cars, as the mad passengers would heat them up.

The youngsters are thankful that in spite of scarce sugar there is still enough Christmas candy for them to get sick on.

Perfect unanimity is manifested by every member of congress in laying off the machine gun shortage on some one else.

Much is said about our war aims, but the most useful kind is the aim of the artillerymen at the German trenches.

The only class of Americans whom Kaiser Bill has not threatened with his wrath, consists of the food speculators.

After holding up the appropriations for big guns, congress is terribly indignant that they aren't all ready.

It would be an appropriate thing for a number of red tape army officials to resign on account of ill-health.

My God! How I Do Hate the Kaiser! Fred Starns, one of our high school graduates of 1879, a jeweler now at Corpus Christi, Tex., sends the following to his old church, H. L. Board:

Mr. Tuesdays are wheatless,
My Wednesdays are meatless,
I'm growing more eatless each day.
My home is heatless,
My bed is sheetless—
They're sent to the Y. M. C. A.

The bar rooms are treatless,
My coffee is sweetless,
Each day I grow poorer and wiser.
My stockings are feetless—
My God, how I do hate the Kaiser.

COMPANY "M" BOYS
GIVE CRACK DRILL
BEFORE CAMERA MAN

Camp MacArthur, Waco, Texas, Jan. 1, 1918.—I suppose it is my duty to begin the new year right and write a few lines to the Gazette.

I have been located at the school for mess sergeants ever in section F and just returned to Company M yesterday afternoon. The three weeks' training that I received at the school was very beneficial and I hope that I can make good use of it. For the present I am to remain with my company, work with the regular mess sergeant, and attend classes which will be held in this regiment. The work on the whole is very interesting and if a person studies hard it may mean something better for him.

Monday afternoon when I returned I found out that the company was out drilling before the moving picture machine. As perhaps you know, Company M was selected as the best drilled company in the division so therefore the men had their pictures taken. If this picture is ever shown in Janesville, which I hope it will be, I would advise every citizen of Janesville to make a special effort to see it. Many of you have a brother, father, sweetheart, or other relation in the company, but I am sure that all of us have a deep feeling down in our heart for the success of Company M.

The boys surely do deserve undivided praise for their fine work as they have worked hard and with the efforts of Captain Caldwell to make this company the best, they surely have succeeded to the highest degree.

The weather down here is about the same as it has been ever since our arrival, only it is somewhat colder if anything. Some nights it is freezing cold and other nights we roast. If I ever return to the north I don't care about ever returning to the south. The people down here do not compare with the people of the north either. The people of the north are very ambitious and move swiftly, but the southern people, while maybe they are ambitious, they lack the snap and vim of the people of the north.

At the time I was attending school forty-nine drafted men were assigned to Company M. Most of these fellows hail from the Windy City and seem to be a nice bunch of boys. They were nearly all assigned to the fourth platoon and as far as I know are picking up fine and are beginning to drill like veterans. It is very strange to think being assigned to our company, coming out of offices, shops, and factories, but they have thrown aside the idea of civilian life and are now doing their bit for "Old Glory," the flag we love so dearly.

We enjoyed a nice chicken dinner today and have been trying up all day long. Some of the boys have gone down town to the show while a great number have stayed in camp, availing themselves of the opportunity to write home. As I have a few letters to write before retiring I must bring it to a close. I may not be able to write very often, but will endeavor to fill up a little space in the Gazette now and then.

Sergeant George is busy playing a Hawaiian piece on his mandolin and it sure sounds good, as the sergeant is developing into a fine musician.

For the last few days Lieutenant Sullivan has been assisting Corporal Sall in preparing the muster and roll for the month of December. We are all glad that day is coming soon as most of us are breathless.

Cook Heinle Kueck is still an attached service and is a cook instructor in one of the light field artillery batteries. Good luck to you Heinle is the sentiment of every member of company M.

One of Their Gunners Captured By Clever Huns, Tommies 'Come Back' Blow Them Out of Trenches

By MAJOR DONALD M. MCRAE.
CHAPTER XI.

I have referred to the front line raids in previous articles, but inquiries from readers show that there is a great deal of doubt as to the purpose of raids and how raiding is done. Perhaps I can make this most important phase of trench war a little clearer to the layman.

Americans are having their first trials of action on the front in the form of raids. The Huns have raided the Americans, and the Americans have raided the British. So far, I believe, with no advantage on the side of the Americans.

A raid is an attack, a dashing, quick "crack at the enemy—but the raiders are supposed to come home with information about the enemy, whereas in an attack the aggressor holds the ground and consolidates his positions won. To

Maj. D. McRae. consolidate a captured trench means to transform it into an altered trench by putting up the old rear side of the ditch into a parapet and changing the steps to the new front.

A prisoner is the most desirable boot camp trophy. Alvin, a German, may be made to talk; dead, his identification disc at least suffices to identify the force to which he belongs; unless it has been taken off, as is often the case.

One of my first and most successful raids was carried out opposite two towns called St. Omer and Marœuvres. It had been recently taken over this front part of the front and everything was quiet enough until some German storm troops moved in opposite. These troops are especially selected and trained for raiding and when they are not at work, live out of the line.

CAPTURE LEWIS GUNNER ENGLISH-SPEAKING BOCHES

One night a handful of these chaps slipped into the line of the battalion next to us and dragged off a wounded man. The raiders were seen by two of our Lewis gunner teams and challenged. Speaking perfect English, they made the gunners believe they were a Canadian patrol coming with some Huns after them. They then jumped the gunners' gunners and got off with one of them. I took out an exercise to retaliatively. We selected the section of trench to be raided and busted ourselves with the details. I divided hundred men into two raiding parties of about thirty-five each, the remainder being divided between two companies of patrols. We trained out Marœuvres for four days. Each man had his own little task. One section was to run down the patrol boats. Another bombed in shells though. Another carried no charges to blow up dugouts.

Reporting ourselves ready, we received orders to go over at 2 o'clock two mornings later. We had a thick mud and at 11 o'clock the men gathered in my dugout to receive their ammunition and a big ration of hot

The scouts went forward, stringing the tape....

The traveling barrage has for its object driving the enemy garrisons into their dugouts. This barrage follows the tapeline and arrives at the front line at about 2 o'clock. At 1:20 the scouts reported everything O. K., and we slipped out. About 100 yards from the German the men formed a line facing the Hun trench and got into shell holes.

MAGNOLIA

Magnolia, Jan. 2.—It has been decided to do away with serving dinner at the all-day meeting of the Red Cross next Wednesday and let each woman bring their own lunch and serve her coffee. This will do away with the extra work of washing dishes, etc., and as our object is to get as much work done as possible, we believe this to be the better plan. Mrs. Frank Green will have charge of the knitting from now on and anyone desiring any information as to how to knit any of the articles may get instructions and help from her. Socks, wristers and helmets are needed badly and no one who can knit socks, should be idle these days.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Woodstock and daughter visited his brother, Arthur and family, of Afton the first of the week.

News Notes from Movieland

BY DAISY DEAN

An excursion into the life history of Hamilton Revelle reveals the fact that he was born in Gibraltar. He refuses to say just when. He admits, however, that his mother was a Spaniard, his father an Englishman, and that at the present writing he is five feet eleven inches tall and weighs 170 pounds.

Mr. Revelle made his stage debut when he was but sixteen years of age, starting as a member of the famous Augustin Daly stock company. In the past twenty years he has played for Metro, Fox, and the Selig, Balasco, Frohman, Fiske and the Selig. His screen debut was made in 1912 in Italy, for he has had the invaluable experience of a year with Ambrosio at Turin, his first picture being his original role of de la Riva. Bussac in Dubarry. He was a leading player with Metro for a year and is now with the Goldwyn company playing lead in support of Mary Garden in "Thais" and "A Splendid Sinner." Other notable parts have been in "Lest We Forget," Armand Duval in "Camille," Dufresne in "Zaza," Don Luis in "Rose of the Racho" and Jean in "Sapho."

Doraldina has returned to Van Nuys following the completion of "The Naulakka," a film creation of Rudyard Kipling's famous story. In this Pathé production she is featured with Antonio Moreno, Mary Alden, Warner Oland and others. Advance stills of the dancer lead us to believe the picture should prove as interesting as "Bara's Cleopatra."

"The Sleeping Beauty" is Montarou Love's alias in the World-Brady studios, due to the fact that between scenes he is constantly dropping off for those forty winks—or more—that are supposed to form the source of the youth of many an old person. Not meaning, of course, to imitate that Love is elderly.

Barton Holmes is assembling his pictures taken within the last year for a new series to be presented during the coming season. His transformations are of real educational value besides being such living works of art.

Here's Mary Miles Minter's description of her "hero": "My hero is big and strong and all muddy and scratched. His hair is hanging in his eyes and there is perhaps a neck of foam on his determined lips. There is a leather helmet on his head and a leather shield on his shoulder and he is holding a football under one arm."

We figured we'd never care for George Beban if he dropped his Italian characteristics. In his next picture, however, we shall see him as a Frenchman, "Julie of the Strong Heart," and render final judgment.

Bessie Barriscale, having completed her work in "Within the Cup," has started another production which is at present entitled "Blindfolded." It is an original story by E. Richard Schayer and furnished a very delightful part for Miss Barriscale.

SWENSON APPOINTS STATE INSPECTORS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison Wis., Jan. 4.—To act as agents of the government in encouraging food conservation in the hotels and restaurants of the state, the three state inspectors of hotels and restaurants have been commissioned by Magnus Swenson, state food administrator. They are, Walter G. Mase and E. U. Loether of Eau Claire.

In their surveys of the sanitary conditions in hotels and restaurants the inspectors gain intimate knowledge of the kitchen and dining room methods in vogue, and of the degree of economy or waste practiced there. An estimate was reported Wednesday by Inspector Mase. In an outlying restaurant in Madison he observed a half dozen plates of wheat bread on the tables on a wheatless day. Being remonstrated with, one of the management grumbled that they would serve other bread if their competitors did the same."A patriotic willingness to help in winning the war by saving of wheat seemed foreign to their disposition, and the inspector was so impressed with this selfish attitude that he reported the case to the state council of defense. Heavy government penalties are provided for such violations of the Hoover orders.

The state inspectors are co-operating by friendly counsel with hotel and restaurant men to cut down food waste and their intensive investigations in these places of business give them wide latitude for extending the educational campaign for food conservation among the public purveyors of food in this state.

airship would drop on him.

After the Jay Bird had shown Billy Bunny how to steer the airship, the little rabbit started off. My, wasn't it exciting! He went so fast, he saw how much Billy Bunny had about it, he asked to be taken along. So they started off and everything went along all right until Uncle Lucky's steppie hat blew off.

"I can't lose that hat!" cried the old gentle rabbit. "I wore it on my wedding day."

So Billy Bunny turned the airship down and went after the old silk hat.

But, oh, dear me! Before they could catch it, it rolled into a deep cave where lived a cross-eyed bear and while they stood outside wondering what to do, the bear came out with Uncle Lucky's hat on his head.

What fun you mean by throwing an old hat at me!" growled the Bear, looking at them so fiercely that neither rabbit could speak for fear.

(And if the old oyster doesn't clam him and the catfish catch the little mouse in our pantry, so that we have to send the trap back, because it isn't any good, I'll tell you next time how the band played on Uncle Lucky's old silk hat.)

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of twenty-one years old, and I have been in the very best class of girls, but I could not go to college because my father died in my senior year and I didn't feel I could afford it. I worked for two years and then took a very good course at business college and went to work again.

The girls I used to go with have been going together ever since high school. Most of them have been to college. They got up a club and asked me to be a member. At that time I was going to school and so I was free to join.

I had a miserable time. We met every two weeks and all we did was say mean things about our acquaintances. Half of the girls were married and they acted as if there were no hope for me and I would surely be an old maid. A young married woman from another town moved here. I loved her, she was so pretty and jolly and unaffected. Of course we got her into the club right away.

After club meetings I would go home and cry because the girls had treated me with such contempt. So when I started to work I dropped out. The other night I had occasion to telephone one of the girls whom I always liked very much and who still is a member of the club. She said that it had been reported at club that I was secretly married—which of course was ridiculous. She also said that the dear married girl from out that you will.

SIDE TALKS — BY RUTH CAMERON

THE "THAT-WILL-DO" SPIRIT.

We were talking about a piece of writing the Authorman had been strung with.

He wasn't satisfied with the lead and had brought it to us for criticism. "Why, I think that will do very well," said Molly. "I wouldn't bother to change it."

"But is it said in the best way it can be said?" persisted the Authorman.

"Well, I don't know, but I think it's very good. I'm sure it will do."

"That Will Do" and Rejected Manuscripts.

"Young woman," said the Authorman, "do you know that she is all the difference between an accepted and a rejected manuscript? Between 'That Will Do' and 'That's said as well as it can be said'."

And he reviewed the manuscript and strode out, frowning the frown of concentration.

He spent a forenoon over that lead but he got it. "It's not a 'that will do' lead any more," he assured us the next time we met.

Was the rejected manuscript accepted?

It hasn't gone out yet so I can't answer that question.

But I'll wager it will be.

Any piece of work which is done in the best-way-it-can-be-done spirit instead of the that-will-do spirit.

The YUKON TRAIL

A Tale of the North

By William MacLeod Raine

Copyright by William MacLeod Raine

As soon as the piano was dark again, Gordon set to work on the flimsy framework of his cell window. He knew already it was so decrepit that he could escape any time he desired, but until now there had been no reason why he should. Within a quarter of an hour he lifted the iron-grilled sash bodily from the frame and crawled through the window.

He found Pagot and Strong waiting for him in the shadows of a pine outside the yard of Selfridge.

"To begin with, you walk straight home and go to bed, Peter," the young man announced. "You're not in this. You're not invited to our party. I don't have to tell you why, do I?"

The engineer understood the reason. He was an employee of Macdonald, a man thoroughly trusted by him. Even though Gordon intended only to right a wrong, it was better that Pagot should not be a party to it. Reluctantly Peter went home.

Gordon turned to Strong. "I owe you a lot already. There's no need for you to run a risk of getting into trouble for me. If things break right, I can do what I have to do without help."

"And if they don't?" Strong waved an impatient hand. "Cut it out, Elliot. I've taken a fancy to go through with this. I never did like Selfridge anyhow, and I ain't got a wife and I don't work for Mac. Why shouldn't I have some fun?"

Gordon shrugged his shoulders. "All right. Might as well play ball and get things moving, then."

The little miner knocked at the door. Wally himself opened. Elliot, from the shelter of the pine, saw the two men in talk. Selfridge shut the door and came to the edge of the porch. He gave a gasp and his hands went trembling into the air. The six-gauge of the gun had been pressed hard against his fat punch. Under curt orders he moved down the steps and out of the yard to the tree.

At sight of Gordon the eyes of Wally stood out in amazement. Little sweat beads burst out on his forehead; he remembered how busy he had been collecting evidence against this man.

"W-w-what do you want?" he asked, not your keys with you?"

"Yes."

"Come with us."

Wally breathed more freely. For a moment he had thought this man had

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—if You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

came to take vengeance on him.

They led him by alleys and back streets to the office of the Macdonald Yukon Trapping company. Under orders he knocked on the door and called out who he was. Gordon crouched close to the log wall, Strong behind him.

"Let me in, Olson," ordered Selfridge.

The door opened, and a man stood on the threshold. Elliot was on top of him like a panther. The man went down as though his knees were oiled head of it. It marched to the jail.

CHAPTER XVII.

Sheba Does Not Think So.

The fingers of Sheba were busy with the embroidery upon which she worked, but her thoughts were full of the man who lay asleep on the lounge. His strong body lay at ease, relaxed.

Already health was flowing back into his veins. Beneath the tan of the thin, muscular cheeks a warmer color was beginning to creep. Soon he would be about again, vigorous and forceful, striding over obstacles to the goal he had set himself.

Sheba had sent him a check for the amount he had paid her and had refused to see him or anybody else.

Shamed and humiliated, she had kept to her room. The check had come back to her by mail.

Across the face of it he had written in his strong handwriting:

"I don't Welsh on my bets. You can't give to me what is not mine."

"Do not think for an instant that I shall not marry you."

She moved to adjust a window blind and when she returned found that his steady eyes were fixed upon her.

"You're getting better fast," she said.

"Yes."

The girl had a favor to ask of him and lost her courage fail she plunged into it.

"Mr. Macdonald, if you say the word Mr. Elliot will be released on bail. I am thinking you will be so good as to say it."

His narrowed eyes held a cold glint.

"You must know he is innocent. You must."

"I know only what the evidence shows," he cut in, warily on his guard. "He may or may not have been one of my attackers. From the first blow I was dazed. But everything points to it that he hired."

"Oh, no!" interrupted the Irish girl, her dark eyes shining softly. "The way of it is that he saved your life, that he fought for you, and that he is in prison because of it."

"If that is true, why doesn't he bring some proof of it?"

"Proof!" she cried scornfully. "Between friends!"

"He's no friend of mine. The man is a meddler. I despise him."

The scarlet flooded her cheeks. "And I am liking him very, very much," she flung back stanchly.

Macdonald looked up at the vivid flushed face and found it wholly charming. He liked her none the less because her fine eyes were hot and defiant in behalf of his rival.

"Very well," he smiled. "I'll get him out if you'll do me a good turn."

"Thank you. It's a bargain."

"Then sing to me."

"What shall I sing?"

"Sing 'Divided'."

The long lashes veiled her soft eyes while she considered. In a way he had tricked her into singing for him a love-song she did not want to sing. But she made no protest. Swiftly she turned and slid along the bench. Her fingers touched the keys and she began.

Sheba paid her pledge in full. After the first two stanzas were finished she sang the last ones as well:

"An' what about the wather when I'd have old Paddy's boat? Is it me that would be afraid to grip the ears an' go boat? Oh, I could find him by the light of sun or moon or star. But there's caudier things than salt waves between us, so they are.

Och aine!

Sure well I know he'll never have the heart to come to me. An' love is wild as any wave that wanders on the sea. 'Tis same if he is near me, 'tis the same if he is far.

His thoughts are hard an' ever hard between us, so they are. Och aine!

Her hands dropped from the keys and she turned slowly on the end of the seat. The dark lashes fell to her hot cheeks. He did not speak, but she felt the steady insistence of his gaze. In self-defense she looked at him.

The pallor of his face lent accent to the fire that smoldered in his eyes.

"There," says he to the first man, "that's the way you shoot."

He shoots again and misses.

"And that, to the second soldier, is the way you shoot."

Shots, and this time hits.

NOTICE TO FARMERS.

I believe the time to buy your harness is now. It is but a short time until the first of February, when it is reasonably certain that harness will be in demand and the fact that 90 percent of the dealers are engaged in government orders that tie up the supply of leather for harness indefinitely, thereof will be much higher in price.

By buying now you can save from $10.00 to $30.00 and get pure oak tanned leather. Therefore why wait until spring; the time to take advantage of these things is RIGHT NOW. Call and see me.
